CONTEMPORARY TANGO ORCHESTRA

ORQUESTA INVISIBLE

Buenos Aires, Argentina

ABOUT THE ORCHESTRA

Orquesta Invisible is a contemporary “orquesta típica” directed by bandoneonist and composer Julio Coviello. It distinguishes itself by making collective composition the central axis of its artistic identity, a rare practice within the genre. Founded in Buenos Aires in 2025 through an open call, the orchestra brings together musicians from different generations and backgrounds, from performers trained in traditional orchestras to figures from the contemporary and academic scenes, creating a space where diverse paths merge into a common language. Based on the classic orquesta típica format, the project proposes a modern reinterpretation of tango that combines the depth of tradition with a living creative process, in which the music is built collaboratively and in constant transformation.

ARTISTIC PROJECT

Orquesta Invisible develops a working method based on improvisation, the exchange of ideas and their subsequent development into a score, generating a repertoire that integrates different authorships within a shared sonic identity.

This approach introduces a dynamic that is uncommon in tango, historically centered on the figure of the individual composer. On stage, the orchestra delivers an intense and dynamic performance that combines original works by its director, collective compositions and new co-written pieces, including the voice as part of the group's sonic universe.

The result is an evolving musical language that keeps its anchor in the tradition of the orquesta típica while projecting itself toward a contemporary practice of tango.

JULIO COVIELLO

Musical director & bandoneon

Julio Coviello is a bandoneonist, composer and cultural manager with more than 25 years of career in tango. He has been a member of fundamental groups of the genre such as Cuarteto Cedrón, Orquesta Típica Fernández Fierro and Tango Cañón.

He is also the founder of La Tierra Invisible, an independent cultural space devoted to live music, where the orchestra holds its regular concert series and its creative laboratory. He maintains an active teaching role as a bandoneon professor at four of the main conservatories in Buenos Aires, contributing to the training of new generations of performers. His career brings together performance, composition, teaching and artistic production, with a comprehensive view of contemporary tango.

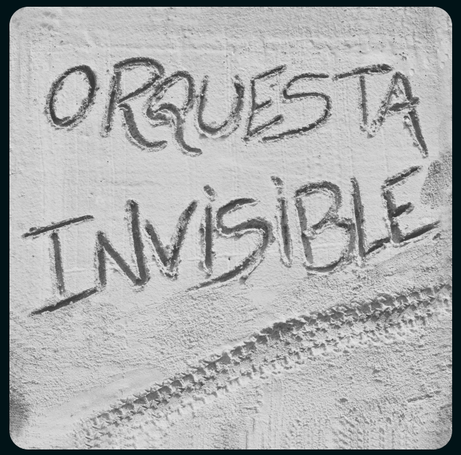

ALBUM · HUELLA

The orchestra's first album, Huella (2026), synthesizes its artistic identity and its way of working. The repertoire brings together compositions by Julio Coviello, written over more than two decades, along with works created collectively by the group, among them new tangos and a candombe.

It was presented live on May 30, 2026 at Palacio Libertad, Buenos Aires. Available on Spotify and all platforms.

"A footprint (huella) is a sign of movement and is built by many people walking along the same path," says the director.
